INTRODUCTION:

The world of research is moving very fast and the width of such research is also expanding. It is, therefore, necessary for the budding researchers and academicians to comprehend the existing research work in a more effective manner so that future works become more meaningful to contribute to the existing one. The purpose of this workshop is, therefore, to expose and help the participants to go through some seminal works or literature to build a more in-depth understanding of the core issues related to contemporary research in Economics, Management and Commerce, especially in the field of finance, accounting and economics. The course helps the participants to identify possible directions for future research in related fields and also helps them to understand the required methodologies that are needed to conduct high-quality research in related fields.

FOR WHOM:

Young and budding researchers who are planning to start the research work, have already started their work but yet to get the research topic/s or just began their research journey and also for the young faculty members to refresh their minds for their future research.

WHAT YOU EXPECT:

Participants are required to devote full time during the workshop and active participation in discussions. One should be open to accepting applaud and criticism as well.

We would also spend some meaningful time on the research paper writing process and skills in the workshop.

PEDAGOGY:

Delivery would be through a balanced mix of lectures, class discussions, and paper analysis. Groups will be formed to work on assignments.

PROGRAMME DURATION: May 27 - 28, 2022

Programme Commencement: 10:00 AM on May 27, 2022.

Programme Conclusion: 04:30 PM on May 28, 2022.

Venue: NIT Durgapur, Durgapur-713209.
