The first thing we looked at when ranking the top online casinos to get bonuses in Australia is the total bonus amount available. Whether the bonus is available through one or several deposits, we want it to be suitable for high rollers as well.

In addition to boosts to your deposit, many casinos offer free spins that you can use immediately on a particular game or a set of pokies. This is a great way to spice up an already great welcome offer, so Australian casinos willing to mix things up with a generous add-on received a better ranking.

After all, there is little hope of withdrawing the extra cash you are given if the wagering requirement is too high. That said, we only considered online casino bonuses for Australian players with reasonable rollovers. Anything above 50x is considered too high.

Many regular players don't bother with the bonus terms when clicking on a new offer. This is why we looked carefully through each of the T&Cs when picking which casinos have the best bonuses.
